MEET OUR TEAM

Adam Young | Vice President of Corporate Affairs

As Vice President of Corporate Affairs, Adam Young focuses on strengthening customer relationships, overseeing Cap's Truck Wash, and helping ensure Young Trucks continues to deliver an exceptional customer experience. We recently sat down with Adam to learn more about his role and what's ahead.

You've been with Young Trucks for more than a decade and held several leadership roles.

How has that experience shaped your current role?

Adam: I've had the opportunity to work in several different areas of Young Trucks—from continuous improvement and parts to service and fixed operations. Each role has given me a broader perspective on our business and a deeper understanding of what our customers and team members need to be successful. Today, as Vice President of Corporate Affairs, I'm able to bring those experiences together by helping strengthen customer relationships, overseeing Cap's Truck Wash, and supporting initiatives that improve the overall customer experience.

What can customers expect when they visit Cap's Truck Wash for the first time?

Adam: Customers can expect a truck wash experience designed specifically for commercial vehicles, with an efficient process and a variety of wash packages to fit their needs. Whether they're stopping in for a quick exterior wash or a more comprehensive service, our goal is to make the experience convenient, consistent, and professional. Our new website also makes it easy to review wash options, payment methods, and everything customers need to know before they arrive.

What's new at Cap's Truck Wash?

Adam: One of our biggest updates is the launch of our new website, which gives customers easy access to information about our services, wash packages, payment options, and hours of operation. We've also refreshed our wash menu to provide more flexibility and value, making it even easier for customers to choose the service that best fits their needs.

Customers may see you visiting their businesses in the coming months. What are these visits about?

Adam: I'll be spending time visiting customers to learn more about their operations, hear about their experiences with Young Trucks, and better understand how we can continue to support their businesses. These conversations are an opportunity for us to listen, gather feedback, and identify ways we can continue improving.

Why is it important to you to connect directly with customers?

Adam: The best way to understand our customers is to spend time with them. Every fleet and every business has its own priorities and challenges, and those conversations provide valuable insight that we can't always get from reports or data alone. Listening to our customers helps us make better decisions, strengthen relationships, and continue improving the products and services we provide.

What excites you most about the future of Young Trucks?

Adam: We're investing in our facilities, expanding our services, and looking for new ways to better serve our customers. What excites me most is that we're never satisfied with standing still—we're always looking for ways to improve the customer experience and build lasting relationships. That's what will continue to set Young Trucks apart.
